the old boy asked if I minded if he turned on the radio.

I, of course, enjoy talk shows and was pleased when he turned it to Coast to Coast; a late night show dealing with anything from Big Feet to aliens, but this night it was nothing but conspiracy theories.

Now, I'm not into a lot of these theories, but find it amusing how some of these folks take unrelated facts and twist and contort them to fit whatever theory they are trying to push.

About an hour into the show, my fishing host asked what I thought about the rumor that Knoxville is attempting to annex Farragut.

Now, I've heard a bit about this, but apparently I didn't know near as much as what I was about to learn...

Be sure and tune in next Wednesday for the rest of this story.
