In October 2012, Rhea and 11 others were named in an 18-count indictment charging them with drug trafficking of oxycodone, oxymorphone, and methamphetamine, firearms violations, and money laundering. The charges were the result of a lengthy investigation of individuals who traveled to Florida, Tennessee, and Georgia to obtain oxycodone from pain clinics and other illegal drugs to distribute throughout eastern Tennessee. All 12 charged in the indictment have now been convicted and sentenced.

According to his plea agreement, Rhea admitted that he organized trips to pain clinics in Florida and Tennessee to obtain oxycodone to distribute in the Eastern District of Tennessee. He also admitted that he sponsored others to travel to these clinics and, in exchange, received a portion of the oxycodone tablets prescribed to each individual. Additionally, Rhea admitted that he had directed others to travel to Georgia to obtain methamphetamine to distribute in the Eastern District of Tennessee. During the course of the conspiracy, he admitted that he was responsible for obtaining and distributing over 778,000 milligrams of oxycodone (the equivalent of nearly 26,000 dose units of 30 milligram oxycodone tablets) and 45 grams of methamphetamine.

In October 2012, Rhea was arrested at his residence in Morristown where he and co-defendant Johnny Neeley were found barricaded inside a room which contained oxycodone, oxymorphone, and three firearms. Evidence presented at Rhea's sentencing hearing demonstrated that he continued to direct the activities of others involved in this conspiracy after his arrest by directing another individual to retrieve methamphetamine from his residence and destroy it.

This lengthy investigation was the result of the collaborative efforts of the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation, Morristown Police Department, and Hawkins County Sheriff's Department. Assistant U.S. Attorney Suzanne Kerney-Quillen represented the United States.

This led to Greenback's Hanley passing to receiver Blake Morton for a 37 yard touchdown. The kick attempt was good by Ramsey. As Athens receives the ball, Greenback's Matthew Brown recovers a fumble to hand the ball back to the Cherokee's. Greenback's Hanley passes to receiver Seth Riddle for a 25 yard Cherokee touchdown. The two point conversion kick was a success by Ramsey. Athens scores at the end of the first half leaving the score 40-6.

During the third quarter of the game, Greenback's Brown intercepts and Athens pass. This ended the game by mercy rule on the top of the fourth quarter.

Defense was led by Peyton Lackey with 9 tackles, Reese Plemons with 7 tackles and Seth Riddle with 6.

Offense was led by Edwards with 231 total yards. Hanley with 6 out of 11 completed passes for 138 passing yards.

Greenback will have no games going into the play-offs Saturday as all Greenback teams has bye's this week. Greenback will be hosting Round 2 of the play-off's next Saturday.
