Murphy, Jr. sentenced to 27 years for child porn

On Oct. 29, 2014, James Glen Murphy, Jr., 31, of Bristol, Tenn., was sentenced to serve 27 years in prison by the Honorable J. Ronnie Greer, U.S. District Judge. The court also imposed a life term of supervised release with special conditions of release.

In July 2014, Murphy pleaded guilty to a federal grand jury indictment charging him with producing, distributing, and possessing child pornography. In sentencing Murphy, Judge Greer noted the seriousness of the offenses Murphy committed including: the fact that he victimized two identified children; the long-term impact on the two child victims; that in addition to the child pornography Murphy produced, the officers found more than 12,000 still images and more than 80 videos of child pornography; the very harsh impact that such crimes have on the fabric of our community;

Charged

Stephen Hodge, 35, Hwy 411 South Greenback, was charged with DUI.

Deputy Lance Anderson LCSO, observed with radar a white vehicle traveling 78 in a 50 mph zone on Hwy 411 South. Deputy turned around and caught up with said vehicle as the vehicle was turning into a driveway. Deputy pulled in behind said vehicle and made contact with the driver Stephen Hodge as he was getting out of the vehicle. Stephen appeared to be nervous, and was talking extremely fast and behaving erratically. Deputy observed Stephen pupils were constricted, and ask Stephen if he had been drinking or taking anything illegal that would effect his ability to operate a motor vehicle.

Stephen stated he takes hydrocodone for pain and has a prescription for it. Stephen did poorly of sobriety test and was placed under arrest. Deputy Lance Anderson LCSO, made the arrest.

the need to protect the community; the high risk of recidivism for such crimes; and the need for federal courts to send the message that these are serious crimes which will be punished severely.

The indictment and subsequent conviction of Murphy were the result of an investigation conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Bristol Tennessee Police Department. Assistant U.S. Attorney Helen Smith represented the United States.

This case was brought as part of Project Safe Childhood, a nationwide initiative to combat the growing epidemic of child sexual exploitation and abuse launched in May 2006 by the Department of Justice. Led by United States Attorneys' Offices and the Criminal Division's Child Exploitation and Obscenity Section (CEOS), Project Safe Childhood marshals federal, state and local resources to better locate, apprehend and prosecute individuals who exploit children via the Internet, as well as to identify and rescue victims. Serious Problems Remain Uncorrected in Grundy County

Grundy County government leaders need to fix numerous problems detailed in a new audit report from the Tennessee Comptroller of the Treasury.

The annual audit resulted in 14 findings, 10 of which were also identified in last year's audit report.

The highway superintendent's office and the director of schools' office were once again the source of numerous deficiencies and weaknesses.

The variety of problems included non-compliant purchasing procedures in several departments, inadequate segregation of financial duties, poor record-keeping, and failure to follow policies.

Grundy County created an Audit Committee on May 20, 2013, however there were no minutes to document that this committee has ever met or conducted any business.

"Grundy County government has serious issues that need to be corrected," Comptroller Justin P. Wilson said. "For two years in a row we have raised concerns about the substantial number of audit findings that have gone uncorrected. It's beyond time for the Audit Committee to meet and address these significant deficiencies that put taxpayer dollars at risk."
