Former Mayor of Gadsden Uses Town Money for Personal Benefit

An investigation by the Tennessee Comptroller of the Treasury has determined that the former mayor/fire chief of the Town of Gadsden had a pattern of using town funds for his personal benefit. The findings have been reviewed with the district attorney general for the twenty-eighth judicial district.

Investigators examined a period between April 1, 2009 and December 31, 2013 and found the town had a cash shortage of at least $35,241. The former mayor/fire chief was also responsible for questionable purchases totaling $39,925.
