Rest in The Lord

The Bible tells us that after God had spent six days speaking the world into existence, on the seventh day, He rested. Can you imagine being in His presence as He sat back and enjoyed the creation of the earth, sun, moon, stars, waters, all of the wildlife as well as man, whom

He made in His own image? In Genesis 1:31 the Bible says that, "God saw everything that He had made, and indeed it was very good", and on the following day He rested!

Folks there is coming a day in which everyone who has placed their faith in Jesus

TGN

Christ will stand in the presence of God and experience the joy of eternal salvation and the satisfaction of resting in God's perfect love. When that day comes, and it may be very soon, those who have not trusted in Him will experience God's wrath rather than His rest for choosing the ways of the world over a relationship with the Savior.

Hebrews 4:1-5 (NKJV) Therefore, since a promise remains of entering His rest, let us fear lest any of you seem to have come short of it. For indeed the gospel was preached to us as well as to them; but the word which they heard did not profit them, not being mixed with faith in those who heard it. For we who have believed do enter that rest, as He has said: "So I swore in My wrath, they shall not enter My rest," although the works were finished from the foundation of the world. For He has spoken in a certain place of the seventh day in this way: "And God rested on the seventh day from all His works".

So where can we find the truth about this resting in God, about Jesus, salvation, and our eternity? God has left us a detailed roadmap within the scriptures. I believe God's word to be more than a history book, more than a suggestion and absolutely more than a religious choice among many others with equal value; I believe every word contained within the pages of my Bible and believe that it clearly explains everything you and I need to know about having a relationship with our Creator and eternal salvation through faith in His Son, Jesus Christ. God speaks to me through His word and He will speak to you if you are willing to listen.

Hebrews 4:11-13 (NKJV) Let us therefore be diligent to enter that rest, lest anyone fall according to the same example of disobedience. For the word of God is living and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the division of soul and spirit, and of joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart. And there is no creature hidden

Homicide

Loudon Police Department and Agents from the 9th Judicial Drug and Violent Crime Task Force were able to develop probable cause to charge Genaro Galvan Mora with the Reckless Homicide of Fonseca.

The evidence and circumstances surrounding the case suggest that Mora and Fonseca were involved in a game of what is commonly referred to as Russian roulette involving a handgun. Probable cause was developed that Mora discharged the firearm in a reckless manner, striking Fonseca in the facial region causing his death.

Reckless homicide charges were placed against Mora at approximately 2pm Friday and he is being held in the Loudon County Jail under a $10,000 bond. Detective Brian Jenkins, LPD filed the charges.

from His sight, but all things are naked and open to the eyes of Him to whom we must give account.

The term "Rest in Peace" or "RIP" is often used when a loved one passes from this life to the next. It sounds good and is usually said out of respect for the deceased but unfortunately it is not possible for everyone whom we wish it upon.

In reality, each of us will one day bow to our knees before the Creator and Savior of the world where we will give an account for our lives. The decision we make during our life concerning Jesus Christ will determine if we are condemned to an eternity separated from God or if we will be invited through the gates of heaven to rest with the Father forever and ever.

If you are unsure exactly which category you would fall into if today were to be your last, I encourage you to open God's word, speak with Him and allow Him to speak to you. God wants to have an active role in our lives and He has promised to reward us greatly both now and later for our faithfulness and commitment to Him. I am confident that I will one day rest in and with The Lord for all eternity and I hope to see you there as well!

PUBLIC NOTICE

WATER SYSTEM FLUSHING PROGRAM

The Lenoir City Utilities Board and Lenoir City Fire Department will be conducting our semi-annual water distribution system wide flushing program per Tennessee Department of Environment & Conservation Water Quality Control Requirements. The Flushing Program will occur for LCUB customers on Monday, June 9, 2014, at 2:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m. thru Thursday, June 12, 2014, at 8:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. The program goals are to identify problems in the water system and ultimately have them corrected. When fire hydrants are flowed, iron deposits in the water lines are agitated. This may cause a brown discoloration to the water in the area which is being flushed. This condition is only temporary and will normally correct itself in a number of hours. During this period of flushing, we recommend that you flow your cold water prior to use to determine if there is any discoloration. While the water is still safe to consume, we recommend not washing any white clothes without first testing the water for discoloration. If your water is discolored, it will clear up on its own under normal usage over a period of time. It is also best to limit the use of your hot water until it's clear, as this will keep the iron deposits from going into your water heater. You may also notice a drop in water pressure during these times; however, the water pressure should return to normal within a short period of time. If you continue to experience difficulty with your water pressure or discoloration on Monday, June 16, 2014, please contact LCUB at (865) 986-6591 to report the problem.

Bureau Initiative Focuses on Child Sex Tourism

Help the Victims, Apprehend the Abusers

Last month, the FBI asked for the public's help in a case involving a suspected serial child predator who for years taught in private international schools overseas. The suspect committed suicide after his employer saw pornographic images on his thumb drive, but as part of our subsequent investigation—when we began the process of identifying and notifying the victims shown in these images—we also asked that possible victims and others who may have information come forward, not only to aid investigators but to potentially access our victim assistance services.

Child sex tourism—people traveling to another country specifically to engage in illegal sexual conduct with children—is a very real issue that causes devastating and long-lasting psychological and physical consequences for victims. And the problem is growing, thanks to the relative ease of international travel coupled with the popularity of the Internet in helping individuals exchange information about how and where to find child victims in foreign locations.

The U.S. State Department estimates that more than a million children are exploited each year in the global commercial sex trade. That's in addition to the untold number of young victims of non-commercial sexual conduct.

But whether it involves commercial or non-commercial sex acts, the FBI—in conjunction with our domestic and international law enforcement partners—investigates U.S. citizens and permanent residents who travel overseas to engage in illegal sexual conduct with children under the age of 18. Since 2008, our Child Sex Tourism Initiative has employed proactive strategies to address the crime, including working with foreign law enforcement and non-governmental organizations to provide child victims with support services and to investigate and prosecute individuals engaging in child sex tourism.

The FBI also shares intelligence products with our overseas law enforcement partners that focus on trends, methods of operations, offenders, etc. And we offer training to foreign law enforcement and non-governmental organizations to build capacity and develop an effective team approach to address the problem. Intelligence sharing and training help develop cohesive multi-disciplinary teams, which in turn enable better international cooperation during the investigation of these crimes.

Children from developing countries are often seen as easy targets by Americans. Our investigations, however, have shown that American perpetrators travel to a variety of locations—from less developed areas in Southeast Asia and Central and South America to more developed areas in Europe. But it makes no difference where these crimes occur—any U.S. citizen or permanent resident who engages in sexual contact with a minor overseas is subject to prosecution under various U.S. laws.

And these laws were strengthened in 2003 with the passage of the federal PROTECT Act, which authorized a variety of additional prosecutive remedies and other tools to use against those who victimize children. It also makes clear that there is no statute of limitations for crimes involving the abduction or physical or sexual abuse of a child.

So a word of warning to perpetrators of this horrendous crime: No matter where you go, no matter how long it takes, you will be caught and prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

And a word of comfort to the victims: The FBI will work with your countries' authorities and non-governmental organizations to bring perpetrators to justice and to help coordinate the services you need.

Justice is Served: Recent Child Sex Tourism Investigations

The FBI and its partners work tirelessly to identify and bring to justice individuals from the U.S. who travel overseas to engage in illegal sex with children. Over the past few years, these efforts have paid off with the successful investigation of numerous U.S. residents on child sex tourism charges. They include:

- Hector Orejuela, Jr., a former teacher and tutor in China who molested one girl under the age of 12 and attempted to molest another. He was arrested in China, returned to the U.S. to face charges, and was recently sentenced to 30 years in prison.

- Walter Lee Williams, a California man wanted for traveling to the Philippines for the purpose of having sex with minors. Williams had been added to the FBI's Ten Most Wanted Fugitives list but was apprehended in Mexico one day later with the assistance of Mexican authorities and brought back to the U.S.

- John D. Ott, a former medical doctor for non-governmental organizations and hospitals in Kenya, who admitted to engaging in illicit sexual conduct with at least 14 minors who ranged in age from 9 to 17. He later pled guilty and was sentenced to 20 years in prison.
