Time

You never know what each day will bring and those us in Loudon County know this very well because it's never a dull moment, there's always something happening. This time it started when a man and his family were on their way back from Florida and broke down around the Loudon exit and Deputy Jamie Ketner, LCSO showed up and he discovered the man was a fellow officer and called on Money-makers to tow them to Advanced Transmission in Lenoir City. Happens all the time to folks. This time however, the man just happens to be on the cover of the upcoming Time Magazine issue in August. His name is Ojo Tewogbade, and no he's not from newport, he's from Canada, well actually Nigeria then Canada.

Ojo along with his family spent just two days with us here and were back on the road thanks to his new friend

Larry from Advanced Transmission he says. He also was very thankful to Deputy Ketner and the tow truck driver for their help and quick response to the late night situation.

Ojo can be googled because his list of accomplishments over his 35 year law enforcement career would take up more paper than you could imagine. The main item which he is most proud of is the Cops and Kids program he pioneered in his precinct in Toronto Canada. The Nigerian born Ojo has a plethora of awards, honors and medals including one from Queen Elizabeth

II. Ojo was one of 11 retiring officers from his precinct but his career stood out so much he was interviewed for Time Magazine. Look for it on the newstands in August. Thanks for visiting us here in Lenoir City we hope our hospitality was enjoyed by you all.

Carter Co. mother pleads guilty to performing and photographing sex acts with her daughters

The Three Victims Were Between the Ages of Two and Eight

On Monday, July 28, 2014, Crystal Renee Dawn Poore, 32, of Elizabethton, Tenn., pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Tennessee at Greeneville, to three counts of production of child pornography. Sentencing has been set for 1:30 p.m., on Oct. 20, 2014.

Poore faces a minimum term of 15 years and not more than 30 years in prison on each count. Federal sentences are not subject to parole.

In July 2013 a three-count indictment, outlining these charges, was returned against Poore by a federal grand jury sitting in Greeneville, Tenn. A factual basis filed in U. S. District Court in Greeneville lays out the details of the abuse which ended with the rescue of the girls from the home by the Knoxville Police Department Internet Crimes again Children (ICAC) Task Force with assistance from Carter County Sheriff's Department and Tennessee Department of Children Services.

U.S. Attorney Bill Killian stated "While we are saddened about the abuse these children endured, we are very grateful that the dedication of the Knoxville Police Department Internet Crimes Against Children Task Force resulted in the crimes being detected and the children quickly rescued."

This indictment was the result of an investigation by the Knoxville Police Department ICAC. Robert M. Reeves, Assistant U.S. Attorney represented the United States.

This case was brought as part of Project Safe Childhood, a nationwide initiative to combat the growing epidemic of child sexual exploitation and abuse launched in May 2006 by the Department of Justice. Led by U.S. Attorneys' Offices and the Criminal Division's Child Exploitation and Obscenity Section (CEOS), Project Safe Childhood marshals federal, state and local resources to better locate, apprehend and prosecute individuals who exploit children via the Internet, as well as to identify and rescue victims. For more information about Project Safe Childhood, please visit www.projectsafefchildhood.gov.
