Darian Bradley, 19, N Fair Street Sweetwater, was charged with Underage Consumption, and Resisting Arrest.

SGT Jerramie Bowen LCSO, did respond to Markwood Rd. on a possible underage drinking party. Sgt. and Deputy Fagiana did find a female that was unresponsive at the back of the residence. The home owner did open the door and we made entry into the house. The female did check ok.

As Sgt. was conducting his investigation into the party the above subject later identified as Darian Bradley Mr. Bradley was very agitated that we were there and stated that he did not care for our presence. Sgt. did ask him to remain seated as everyone else complied Mr. Bradley would not listen to instructions given and was told to stay seated. He then jumped up again and got into Deputy Fagiana face and became belligerent and pulled away from Deputy Fagiana. Sgt. then placed Mr Bradley in an arm bar and took him to the ground and we did place him into handcuffs without further incident. When Sgt. arrived at the jail Mr Bradley insisted for a test because he stated he was not under the influence of alcohol or drugs. Sgt. then gave Mr. Bradley HGN which he performed poorly on and could smell an odor of alcohol coming from his person also. Sgt. Jerramie Bowen LCSO, made the arrest.

Montana. We have basically offered our lives as an open book with the hopes to encourage each of our readers.

I want to use this week's article to share something that Jeff probably wouldn't. He is not a boastful man, but he is well deserving of the words I am writing. Jeff gained custody of his two children when they were just little. He had help from teachers, friends and family along the way, but Jeff's priority has always been to provide safety and the tools for successful adulthood for Danielle and Tanner.

As a single dad, Jeff never complained about what some might consider major sacrifices he made. He loved his babies and without question or hesitation, he always made sure that their needs (and wants) were met. He has a bond with his kids that could almost make you envious. Even through a couple of hard teenage years, Jeff always disciplined with love, patience and good instructions, which built a foundation of respect and love from his kids.

When Danielle started college and Tanner joined the Army, we found our lives to be very different. Empty nest is not all it's cracked up to be.... Even when they were away from home, they still leaned on their dad for advice and support. They are honestly one of the closest families I have ever known, and I am blessed to be part of it.

This past weekend, Tanner and his girlfriend, Savannah got married. Tanner is facing potential deployment and they wanted to get married prior to his leaving. It was a small ceremony with immediate family and a few close friends. However, because we are in Montana and they are in Tennessee, we weren't able to attend. I knew it would be hard on us not to be there, but we also knew that Tanner was marrying the best girl that we welcomed as family when they first started dating. While we knew it was about them, and not us, we still had a little pity party the day of the wedding. Jeff had been part of every event of Tanner's life and it was tough not to be there for the day that he married his best friend. This was the first time that we felt like we were "sacrificing" by being in Montana.

David Choate officiated the ceremony and worked with my hero, Gary Smith, to make sure we could watch the wedding live in Montana. We don't have good internet service at our house, so we asked some friends if we could come to their house and watch the wedding using their good internet. When we arrived at their house, my eyes were already swollen from the tears I had been shedding all morning. On the front door was a wedding bell, which made me cry even harder. When we walked in, they had a beautiful table prepared for a Montana reception! They even made corsages for "the parents of the groom" and a wedding ribbon for Charlie, our Yorkie. They had hooked their computer to their tv so we could see the entire wedding live! Danielle and our nieces even used FaceTime with us so we could see Tanner and Savannah before the wedding - almost like we were there!

While we would have loved to have been there, we were blessed with a crew of great friends in TN and MT who went the extra mile to make sure we didn't miss the union of Mr. and Mrs.

Tanner Vittatoo. What a blessing! We would like to extend a special thank you to the family of Savannah Berry Vittatoo for giving Tanner such an amazing wife! Also, we would like to thank David Choate, Gary Smith and Deb Ninis (our New Providence church family) for their assistance in helping us plan a wedding in just two weeks! Last but not least, thanks to the Oie family for being so kind and sharing Tanner's special day with us in Montana!

Finally, in the spirit of celebrating awesome dads, I want to thank my own dad, Joey Housley. Knowing how heart broken we were just hours before the wedding, he sent this message: Joshua 1:9 "Have I not commanded you? Be strong and of good courage; do not be afraid, nor dismayed, for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go."

Thank you all for reading and sharing our lives with us. We consider it an honor to share scriptures, stories and messages that God lays on Jeff's heart. We ask that you continue to pray for us as we share God's love here in Montana and that you contact us if you ever have questions about the Bible, Salvation or have a prayer request of your own.
