ganized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force (OCDETF) investigations during the period of January 2013 through April 2015. During that time, Ezell was a sergeant with the Mount Juliet Police Department and supervised the Crime Suppression Unit.

In sentencing Ezell, Chief Judge Sharp noted that "there was an abuse of trust of the position the people placed him in to be a good steward of the public's money." Judge Sharp also said the sentence "needs to reflect the seriousness of the offense and send a message that you can't dip into the public till and receive probation if you're caught."

This case was investigated by the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation; the FBI; the District Attorney's Office for the 19th Judicial District; and the DOJ Office of Inspector General. Assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas J. Jaworski is prosecuting the case.

Twelve others who were previously sentenced in this conspiracy received prison sentences ranging from 110 to 235 months.

According to the plea agreements on file with the U.S. District Court Clerk, the combined aggregate total of a-PVP stipulated to by Williams, Dulworth, Watson and Ware was approximately 19,275 grams.

A-PVP is a synthetic drug, primarily ordered from China, which is commonly referred to on the street as "gravel" or "flakka." Common effects on users include: extreme paranoia; hallucinations; elevated blood pressure; extremely high body temperature; excited delirium; staying awake for days; hostility and having exceptional strength without apparent fatigue. These characteristics of the drug make it very dangerous for both the user and law enforcement responding to people who are using the drug. Users of a-PVP have referred to the substance as "meth on steroids."

Law enforcement agencies participating in this investigation included the Drug Enforcement Administration, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, Homeland Security Investigations, Sullivan County Sheriff's Office, Kingsport Police Department, Hawkins County Sheriff's Department, Johnson City Police Department, Greeneville, Tennessee Police Department, Hendersonville, North Carolina Police Department, and the Scott County, Virginia Sheriff's Office, all of which provided invaluable assistance during the course of the investigation. Assistant U.S. Attorney Wayne Taylor represented the United States.

Holiday Loans: Worth enjoying a vacation

by: James Roy

Every person has a desire to spend some of his or her free time with his or her family. Even we have left the nomadic life long after the development of abodes, but we feel like relaxing or going for a small holiday once in a while. We dream of spending vacations at an exotic place. But spending time with your family enjoying holidays could be expensive. You would certainly require a great amount of money to enjoy the dream as this cannot be fulfilled out of a fixed salary scale that is where some holiday loans come into picture! These loans are very economical.

These are small but helpful cash advances which are offered to the people who want to spend their free time or vacations. The loan amount is not fixed as it depends on the credit position of the borrower. This loan amount is usually granted for a short span of few weeks only. These loans are offered in both secured as well as unsecured way. In the secured ones, you have to vow your assets with the lending institutions while in another case, there is no such requirement, but it has a demerit. Loans without collateral are offered at higher rate of interest and for a shorter span of time.

You may also apply for such over the Internet. It is the easiest and fastest way to get the money approved. Just do a small research and visit any lending institutions r banking websites and apply for a holiday loan via filling an online form. It takes a while to get loan approved which may take one day to a week. As a borrower one should always do a research on interest rates and facilities provided. These loans are easy to get and economical too. You must be above 18 years of age while applying for this lone and you should have a continuous income flow as it is a mandate. Refreshment is equally important as important is your work. Enjoy the vacations but do not forget that timely payment of loans will not only add to your credit rating but it will make sure that you do not end up paying a huge amount!
