Federal Jury Convicts Michael O. Brown on Drug Conspiracy and Distribution Charges

Following a four day trial in U.S. District Court, Chattanooga, Tenn., a jury convicted Michael O. Brown, of Fayetteville, Tenn., of conspiracy to distribute and distribution of cocaine and cocaine base (crack).

Sentencing is set for 9:00 a.m., Jun. 15, 2015, in U.S. District Court in Chattanooga. Brown faces a sentence of life in prison for the conspiracy charge and up to 30 years in prison for the distribution charge.

Evidence presented at trial showed that a group of 15 men and women conspired to distribute and possess with intent to distribute five kilograms or more of cocaine and 280 grams or more of cocaine base (crack). The jury saw a video of Brown selling crack cocaine to a confidential source and heard recorded telephone calls in which Brown is heard ordering cocaine from a codefendant. All of the 14 other individuals charged in the case pleaded guilty and have been sentenced. Brown was the only one to go to trial.

Law enforcement agencies participating in the joint investigation which led to indictment and subsequent conviction of Brown and his codefendants included the Drug Enforcement Administration, Tennessee Bureau of Investigation, Franklin County Sheriff's Office, Lincoln County Sheriff's Office and Winchester Police Department. Assistant U.S. Attorney Terra L. Bay represented the United States at trial.

I woke up this morning to the kind of day that doesn't come along very often and one that I haven't experienced in a very long time. Angie and I have spent the last few months dealing with an uncertain geographical future, followed by a diligent home search, putting a plan into action, preparing for this move and then all of the work and stresses that are associated with relocating our lives to another town.

As the sun went down yesterday evening, I was unpacking my last box knowing that today would be different. The wondering is over, the home search is complete and the work is now done. I went to bed last night keenly aware that for the next four days, I have nothing to do, no decisions to make and no place to be.

As the sun rose this morning over the mountains behind our new home, I stood in my living room watching the Clark Fork River flow slowly past. I began my day by thanking Jesus for being so good to me and my family. I thanked Him for not giving up on me when my life was such a mess and for allowing me to stand there, in that moment, with Him.

I am unsure what God has planned next for Blondie and I. I'm uncertain which church family He will lead us to, how He plans to use our lives or who He will place in our path, but I know this: God has a plan and His plan has eternal value!

Jeremiah 29:11 "For I know the thoughts that I think towards you, says the Lord, thoughts of peace and not of evil, to give you a future and a hope."

How awesome is that? God has thoughts toward each of us that leads to peace, a future and hope! Why would we ever choose a path that doesn't include God when we have this promise from the Creator of the universe? Angie and I are living examples of this truth! We believed, we trusted and God honored His word!

We haven't opened up our lives to the world for popularity, for financial gain or for self gratification; we have shared our lives with the world to show others that a life grounded in a relationship with Jesus is more satisfying than you can even imagine!

This past week I had the honor and privilege of baptizing my friend Andrew, who recently made the decision to accept Christ as his Lord and Savior. Andrew wanted to be baptized in the river, in Montana, in March! There was snow on the river banks and to say the water was cool would be an understatement. About fifteen fellow believers met us at a deep hole in the Prickley Pear Creek between our church in Montana City and a small community called Clancy. My friend Rick Oie and I wore waders but Andrew waded out into the creek in a pair of shorts with zero hesitation. He was identifying with the death, burial and resurrection of Jesus Christ and had invited everyone he knew to come see him be baptized.

Sharing the gospel with Andrew for over a year, hav-and went through the plastic on the door when he punched the victim 3 times in the face. John then made entry through the rear of the house and took a bottle of liquor, a case of beer and a .22 revolver pistol belong to the owner of the residence without his permission. John ran into the woods Sgt. Michael Watkins with his K-9 partner tracked John into the woods. Sgt. gave John commands to show his hands and to come out of the woods. John came out and approached Sgt. and would not stop, John then went down at the K-9 in a aggressive manner and the dog bit him on the right forearm. John was placed under arrest. Deputy Craig Brewer LCSO, made the arrest.

Police beat

Spencer Young, 23, Littleton Drive Loudon, was charged with Assault.

Deputy Bobby Hamilton LCSO, responded to Littleton Dr. on a domestic call. When Deputy arrived on scene he spoke with the victim and she stated her son was sitting at the dinning room table when Spencer told victim that he wished she would have a heart attack and die. Spencer brother told him that was not appropriate. Spencer then began to yell and curse and ran into the kitchen and told the victims he was going to kill himself. Spencer then grabbed a knife and stabbed himself in the leg. Victim tried to stop Spencer he then grabbed victim and threw her in the floor. Spencer took off and while Deputy was working on the domestic report Spencer came back to the residence and appeared to be intoxicated on something. Spencer was transported to Ft. Loudon Medical for his wound then to Loudon Jail. Deputy Bobby Hamilton LCSO, made the arrest.

Catherine Elling-ton, 24, Allison Town Rd Philadelphia, was charged with Driving on Revoked License. Deputy Lance Anderson LCSO, observed a tan Dodge vehicle on Interstate 75 South Deputy ran the tag it came back to a GMC vehicle. Deputy made a traffic stop and made contact with the driver Catherine Ellinton. A check of Catherine license revealed them to be revoked for failure to comply with financial responsibility. Catherine was placed under arrest. Deputy Lance Anderson LCSO, made the arrest.

ing the opportunity to lead him to Christ and then participating in his baptism has been the absolute pinnacle of our journey to Montana thus far. We are so proud of Andrew and excited about his future as a Christ follower. He is experiencing the peace and hope described in the scripture above. He is now a child of the King!

If you're not experiencing the peace and happiness that Christ brings to the life of true believers, then I encourage you to evaluate your walk with Jesus. Maybe you are burdened with unconfessed sin, maybe you are not spending time with God, maybe you have placed your faith in a "Sunday morning box" and not as a daily relationship with your Creator. Maybe you have never made the decision to place your faith in Jesus for eternal salvation and earthly content. Trust me when I say that He is worth it! I am living proof that Christ changes lives and blesses those who honor Him.

Oh yeah, I lied earlier when I said that I had no decisions to make today. I actually do have a crucial choice ahead of me in the coming moments. In my quest for a monster brown trout this morning, I'm not sure if I should drift a night crawler or throw a small Rapala. Decision, decisions..... May God bless you today as He has me and my family!

False
 Steven Scott, 24, Chatuga Lane Loudon, was charged with Vandalism, False Reports/Statement, and Assault. Scott intentionally made false statements to police. Scott walked from an adjacent apt. to Depot St. where the victim resides. Scott knocked loudly on the victim door then kicked the door several times, apparently attempting to get victim to come out or at least open the door. When the victim did not respond Scott broke out a glass window, which was to the left of the entry door. Scott sustained a laceration on his knuckle and also on his left elbow. Complainant called for police assistance and LPCD responded. When Officer Bruce Padgett LPCD arrived he encountered Scott at Depot St. Scott was bleeding from the two wounds on his elbow and hand. After investigation and witness statements showed that Scott was making a false claim. Scott's version of the event was not possible due to the layout. Scott was placed under arrest. Detective Kevin Condee LPCD, made the arrest. Once at the jail Scott became combative cussing and yelling at the Deputies. Cpl Bearden and Deputy Samuels confronted Scott to calm down. Scott did not listen to the Deputies command, and lunged at the Deputies attempting to get Deputy Samuels in a headlock. Cpl. Bearden and Deputy Samuels gained control of Scott. Deputy Jordan Samuels charged Scott with Assault.

Assault

Frank Staten, 46, Browder Hollow Rd Lenoir City, was charged with Domestic Assault. Sgt. Jeremy Dishner LPCD, was dispatched to a 911 hang up at Browder Hollow Rd.

Upon Officer arrival he came in contact with the victim, who stated that her daughter was trying to move a mattress out of the kitchen, so a friend could sleep on it, Frank Staten who was intoxicated got upset and pulled out his pocket knife and slashed the bottom of the mattress. It was determined that Frank was the primary aggressor and placed under arrest. Sgt. Jeremy Dishner LPCD, made the arrest.

 as our behavior. The message is ultimately as surprising as it is hopeful: by retrofitting cities and our own lives for happiness, we can tackle the urgent challenges of our age. The happy city can save the world—and we can all help build it.

“This is a good book that could really help revolutionize many failing cities,” Distler says.

Before coming to Knoxville, Distler was General Manager of operations and maintenance for Nashville Metropolitan Transit Authority (MTA) and Regional Transportation Authority. She has nearly 25 years of professional experience in the transit industry, having begun her career as a bus operator.

She obtained a Bachelor of Science degree in business management from the University of Phoenix, graduating with honors.
