Scripture Worth Repeating

A friend of mine shared a verse of scripture with Angie and me last night that he found written on a 2x4 within the construction site of our new church sanctuary. It was most likely written by one of the Texas Baptist Church Builder crew members when the walls were being erected a couple of weeks ago. We all talked about some of our favorite verses that we draw strength from and the need to commit more to memory.

Today I was scrolling through some previous Good News articles on our website and ran across this list of Bible verses that I

Investigating Human Rights Reaching Out to Diaspora Communities in U.S. for War Crimes Tips

Five years ago, nearly a dozen former soldiers who served during the Bosnian civil war in the early '90s before settling in Arizona were sentenced for lying on their applications for refugee status when they came to the U.S. Last year, a Bosnian-born Minnesota man was arrested on fraud charges for not disclosing crimes—including murder, kidnapping, and robbery—he allegedly committed during his military service in Bosnia-

Herzegovina. In January, a Bosnian-born Vermont man was found guilty of lying to get into the U.S. and obtain his naturalized citizenship.

These cases illustrate efforts across multiple agencies and international borders to hold accountable any individuals who committed war crimes or atrocities overseas before entering and settling in the U.S. And Bosnian war criminals represent just a sampling of the subjects

Mark Stevens, 18, Homeless, was charged with Public Intoxication.

Deputy Chris Hutchens LCSO, did respond to the SugarLimb Priority

Station for a possible verbal domestic. Upon arrival Deputy did meet with Priority personell who were talking with Mr. Mark Stevens, the subject in question. Mr. Stevens did have marks, and cuts on him that seemed to indicate that he was in a physical altercation. Mr. Stevens did state that he was in a fight but would not give any information as to the event.

Stevens refused medical treatment continually and stated that his friend knows a doctor who would check him out. It was found out by, a friend, who brought him to the Priority station, that he had gotten into a fight with occupants there after he threw a glass of clear liquor onto several subjects there. Afterwards Stevens left on foot where the friend picked him up and brought him to the ambulance building. Stevens began arguing with the friend once at the station because she did not take him to his residence. Stevens would not give a physical address only that it was in Monroe County. Stevens was checked ok by EMS and he did have a strong odor of al-

Deputy did locate a 2000 Silver Lexus RX3 sport utility vehicle, on its roof. Standing next to the vehicle was Charles M Babb, he (Babb) stated that he was driving the vehicle home from his friends house on Watt Road and attempted to light a cigarette when his vehicle rolled. Babb had extremely red / watery bloodshot eyes, slurred speech, a strong odor of alcoholic beverage upon his breath and did admit to drinking Jack Daniels Fire prior to his accident. Babb was not complaining of any injury however Deputy did have Priority EMS respond and check Babb. Babb was cleared by Priority EMS and Deputy asked Babb to conduct standardized field sobriety tasks. Babb did poorly on all standardized field sobriety tasks and was given two alternative tasks; Babb was asked to speak the alphabet from "D-P", as well as the finger count. Babb provided multiple clues on all tasks and did admit that he felt intoxicated; Babb stated that he felt like he was a "4 out of 10" regarding his level of intoxication. Babb was read the Tennessee Implied Consent form which he agreed to. While at the Loudon County Jail, Babb did provide a breath sample into the EC / IR II Two Test Protocol at 02:07 and 02:10. Babb's samples provided a blood alcohol concentration of .172 and .168 respectively. This did occur in Loudon County, Tennessee. Deputy Brandon Burley LCSO, made the arrest.

Romans 12:1-2 – I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God.

This is one of my favorite verses in the Bible and it challenges me every time I think of it. Blondie's missionary uncle, Jack Housley, pointed me to this verse of scripture over four years ago and I think of him and his commitment to Christ every time I read it. If I want to be a disciple maker for Jesus Christ, this is what I must do, this is what it takes.

Acts 1:9 But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be witnesses to Me in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth.

These were the last words that Jesus spoke to His disciples before ascending to heaven. The first century church began to fulfill this command but it is Christians of our generation who must continue the work until Christ returns for the church. This command is the reason that we are now living in the Northwest. Our heart's desire is to be His witnesses to the folks of Montana and wherever else God chooses to send us.

WARNING: Living by the advice described in the scripture above will totally and radically change your life forever!!! If you desire to remain as you are, please disregard!

being sought. The U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement's (ICE) Homeland Security Investigations (HSI) is pursuing more than 1,900 leads and cases on individuals from about 96 countries. The FBI, which works alongside HSI and special prosecutors at the Human Rights Violators and War Crimes Center in Northern Virginia, has pending investigations in nearly a third of our 56 field offices.

Managing the FBI's role in identifying, locating, and investigating these cases is the Bureau's International Human Rights Unit (IHRU), which works closely with partner intelligence agencies and the Department of State to identify subjects and gather leads. Agents in the unit then coordinate the FBI's approach in the field—whether it's collecting intelligence, developing sources, or just meeting leaders in diaspora communities to make them aware that the FBI is seeking tips on the whereabouts of suspected war criminals and human rights violators.

"We are asking those communities, 'If you know somebody or if you have heard of somebody who has done those things, let us know and then we'll go from there,'" said Thomas Bishop, head of the IHRU. "I think in a lot of these communities, people know someone who was involved with something—or they hear about somebody being involved—but they may not know what to do with it. All we need is a tip so we can see if there's anything to it."

The FBI has had an expanding role investigating human rights crimes since 1988, when Congress added genocide to the U.S. criminal code. Torture was included in the code in 1994 and war crimes in 1996. The most recent addition, in 2008, was the recruitment of child soldiers—an offense exemplified at the time by fugitive Ugandan warlord Joseph Kony, who famously recruited children into his notorious Lord's Resistance Army.

Following the Presidential Study Directive on Mass Atrocities in 2011, the FBI formalized an international human rights program to leverage its intelligence capabilities and vast network of field agents and analysts. The genocide and war crimes program, as it was then called, was originally part of the FBI's Counterterrorism Division, but last fall it was reorganized under the Criminal Division's Civil Rights Program and given its current name. Jeffrey Sallet, head of the Bureau's Public Corruption/Civil Rights Section, which includes IHRU, said the shift creates a one-stop shop of experts on human rights and public corruption matters, which often go hand-in-hand.

shared almost two years ago. As I read through the list I was reminded of how much we mean to Christ and how greatly He desires to lead us into a life with specific meaning and eternal value.

I invite you to explore these verses again today, and allow God to speak to you through His unchanging word.

Genesis 1:1 - In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.

I could just stop right there! God literally spoke the earth and everything in it into existence. God is not just a figurehead of religious beliefs; He is the great I AM! If He created all that we see and all that exists then He is worthy of our praise and worthy of living for.

Deuteronomy 6:5 - You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul and with all your strength.

This is what God told Moses to teach the children of Israel. If we want to really experience a relationship with God that changes our hearts and guides our lives, this is how.

Jeremiah 29:11-13 - For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, says the Lord, thoughts of peace and not of evil, to give you a future and a hope. Then you will call upon Me and go and pray to Me, and I will listen to you. And you will seek Me and find Me, when you search for Me with all of your heart.

We should always remember that God isn't just our Creator or a righteous Judge; He cares for each of us and wants us to experience peace, joy and happiness if we will only reject the sins of the world and seek Him with our hearts.

John 3:16-17 - For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life. For God did not send His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved.

This is undoubtedly the most popular verse in the Bible and almost everyone can recite it, but have you let the words penetrate your heart? God knew what Christ would have to endure to pay our sin debt. Our sins, the sins of the world, were a barrier between us and God. But through faith in Jesus, we can enjoy a relationship with God and experience

His greatness both now in our life on earth, and later for eternity.

Luke 19:10 - For the Son of man came to seek and to save that which was lost.

Jesus tells Zacchaeus that His purpose for coming to earth was to seek out and to save all those who will believe on Him. This is you and this is me!

We are the reason Jesus came to earth to sacrifice His life. The only Son of the Creator of the universe came to earth to be crucified so that you and I could spend eternity with Him and God the Father in heaven!!!!

James 1:19 - So then, my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath; for the wrath of man does not produce the righteousness of God.

I should have this verse stamped onto my forehead! We often allow our mouths to destroy our witness as Christians, which rendered this verse mandatory for a better life in Christ Jesus.

Brian Hunt, 33, Grove Street Loudon, was charged with Domestic Assault, and Simple Possession. Officer Jeremy Dishner LCPD, was dispatched to Church Drive on a Domestic Disturbance. The E-911 advise the victim had been assaulted by Brian Hunt at Grove St. Loudon. Brian had followed victim to Church Drive, upon arrival Brian made several threats to the victim, which placed victim if fear due to previous assaults. Upon Officer arrival he ask permission to search Brian's vehicle in an attempt to locate Brian identification, Officer located a small container in the passenger seat containing a green leafy substance believed to be marijuana. Brian was placed under arrest. Officer Brandon Gentry LCPD, made the arrest.

coholic beverage coming from his person, and admitted to having consumed alcohol. The subject refused a report from LCPD for the fight and was also placed under arrest for public intoxication. This did occur in Loudon County. Deputy Chris Hutchens LCSO, made the arrest.

"Corruption leads to lack of confidence in government," he said. "Lack of confidence in government leads to failed states. And failed states lead to terror and human rights abuses. The people who are kleptocrats and robbing their countries are often the same people who are committing these abuses."

Agents in the IHRU have territories they manage—Africa, Latin America, for example—and work directly with agents in the field when they need a lead covered.

"We're going to go out to the field office and say, 'We have a file, we have these requirements, will you go out and talk to your sources and collect this information?'" said Vanya Voivedich, a special agent in the unit. When the information comes back, it is shared and analyzed to either build a case or close a lead.

In some cases, when crimes occurred before the U.S. war crimes statutes were in place, subjects can still be prosecuted on lesser violations. Subjects who lied about their refugee status are subject to deportation to their home countries. One of the defendants in the Phoenix case in 2010, Mladen Blagojevic, was ultimately sent back to Bosnia-Herzegovina, where he was tried and sentenced to seven years in prison for crimes against humanity.

Pointing to the 20-year anniversary of the July 1995 genocide in the Bosnian town of Srebrenica, in which around 8,000 men and boys were killed or taken prisoner, the FBI is renewing its plea for tips to bring to justice anyone involved in human rights violations.

"People in diaspora communities know each other," said Voivedich, "they'll know if someone in their community committed atrocities and are now here enjoying the benefits of starting a new life. And they see how that may not be fair."
