The World by Gus Snakes and the Storm

Boy do I love English Ivy. That stuff sure does make your house look nice, but it does take some work to keep it in check, so Monday morning I was out trying to clear out a few spots when I discovered a couple of large snake skins. The worst of it was I kept hearing stuff shuffle a few feet in front of where I was working and I started smelling cucumbers.

ness had installed a security system at a Daycare in Knoxville. She advised Jeremy Aikens and Rebekah Aikens had been fired from the company and also never was authorized to pick up or take payments to the company.

On October 22, 2007 Mr. Aikens and

Mrs. Aikens went to the daycare in Knoxville and advised them to make a check out to Jeremy Aikens in the amount of $2,283.50. The check was canceled after the fraud was discovered by the victim.

Upon further investigation it was learned that Mr. Aikens did cash the check on the same day at the ORNL credit union. Because he obtained the check without consent, and it was cashed resulting in ORNL losing $2283.50, Aikens knowingly and willingly committed theft over $1000.

Aikens turned himself into the justice center.

Jeremy Wayne Aikens, 31, of Industrial Park Drive, Lenoir City, was charged with theft over $1000. Deputy Lonnie Gaut, LCSD made the arrest.

Know on the Go – Save fuel by getting directions straight from your phone. U.S. Cellular's Your Navigator is a handy GPS system that offers voice-prompted, turn-by-turn navigation. Take It Slow – You can set the alarm on a cell phone to remind you when to leave. By leaving a few minutes early, you can drive slower. Speeding consumes more gas.

Map It Out – The calendar function on your phone can come in handy for setting up your daily errands. You can list what needs to be done and plan the most fuel-efficient route.

It's a Snap – Not sure you love that swatch of fabric or plant for your garden? Instead of making several trips to the store, use your cell phone camera to snap a picture. You can e-mail photos to your family and friends to get immediate reactions without wasting a drop of gas.

Get a Leg Up – Walking and biking are becoming more popular as pump prices climb. Carrying a cell phone can help you stay in touch whether it's to let family or friends know you will be late because you stopped to smell the roses or have a flat tire on your bike.

Gus

Now all you Old Timers know that smelling cucumbers when there are no cucumbers is a sure sign that snakes are present. I never saw anything and my work turned out uneventful. Well, up until the storms moved in.

I was sitting on the throne reading the paper when the thunder roared and the power went out. Now my toilet is tucked away in a little stall, not very roomy, and you have to back in. So there I am, in the dark, feeling around for the toilet paper when all the sudden I heard a hiss six inches from my face and smelled that distinct cucumber smell.

I was gone in a flash, trousers around my ankles, screaming like a ten-year-old schoolgirl. I regained my composure, grabbed the flashlight and the 12 gauge, and headed back to the throne room only to find this new battery powered air freshener that sprays every few minutes. And of course, they made it smell like cucumbers.

Thank God no one was at home and will ever find out... -Gus
