amaze even yourself. You thought this person was absolutely out of your league (as if there was such a thing). But ask yourself: Now that you have them, do you really want them?

Cancer

(Jun 22-Jul 22)

Like a magpie, you find yourself getting distracted by anything shiny, pretty or in motion. Your friends have to laugh -- this is so unlike your usual self. What lives? Well, who cares? You're having a great time.

Leo

(Jul 23-Aug 23)

If you dress well and enter with confidence, people tend to believe what you say. Style isn't the same as substance, of course, but it can get your foot in the door. Can you dress for success on both the inside and out?

Virgo

(Aug 24-Sep 23)

Make sure the issues that are on the table are the ones really worth compromising over before you make any concessions. While cooperation is the key to a successful venture, you shouldn't feel resentful later.

Libra

(Sept 24-Oct 23)

Just how many sides do you have to your personality, hmmm? You keep everyone around you on their toes! Fortunately all these different aspects to your persona are grounded in a loving and capable heart.

Scorpio

(Oct 24-Nov 22)

Chemistry is funny. Sometimes it can strike twice, and other times you can have one great meeting and then -- nothing. Just remind yourself that if it can happen a few times, it can happen a lot more. Keep on trucking!

Sagittarius

(Nov 23-Dec 21)

Like a little kid, your response to almost every request is, 'But why?' You're filled with questions that no one has real answers for. Maybe it's time for you to enroll in a philosophy class to figure out the big topics.

Capricorn

(Dec 22-Jan 20)

The stars have given you so many gifts. Right now you have an unbeatable combination of wisdom, skill and luck. Apply all of these to your finances, and you'll see growth in ways you couldn't have expected.

Aquarius

(Jan 21-Feb 19)

A slippery type tries to give you an answer that could mean anything and nothing, but you're onto them. A few cagey questions will soon box them into a corner and they'll have to give you a straight answer.

Pisces

(Feb 20-Mar 20)

Interactions with the people in your life can be improved through clear and fair-minded communication. A good rule of thumb: How would you like to hear a certain piece of news? Express yourself accordingly.

Aries

(Mar 21-Apr 20)

Your spontaneous nature saves the day (again). Yes, your carefully laid plans go awry, but the alternative you come up with turns out to be much better than the original blueprint. Good for you!

Taurus

(Apr 21-May 20)

Your timetable is moving at a fast and furious pace, so much so that a certain beloved companion feels slightly left behind. Discuss the disparities. If you can reach a compromise, that's fantastic.

ducers enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) that opportunities for managed haying and grazing exist. With a modification to their conservation plan, certain CRP stands established to permanent grasses (cool-season and native warm season grasses), are eligible to be cut for hay or grazed. Most eligible areas for managed haying and grazing are land that was enrolled in a general signup.

CRP participants can have the next annual payment reduced by only 25-percent for acres hayed or grazed this summer. Hay harvested under the managed haying option can be sold, offering an attractive financial incentive considering recently reported hay shortages and potential worsening conditions. Haying or grazing is only allowed once every 3 years on the same acreage.

NRCS Private Lands Biologist Mike Hansbrough says, "Most native warm season grass stands have become too thick for many species of wildlife. Removal of this grass with only one cutting will make the stands better for wildlife in the long term." In the case of native warm season grasses, landowners can expect 30 inches or more of re-growth within a couple of months, providing for wildlife cover later this summer and into fall and winter. CRP continuous buffer strips, generally established in more sensitive areas, are not eligible for this haying or grazing option.

For more information, about the Conservation Reserve Program, contact your nearest USDA Service Center listed in the blue pages of your phone directory. Or visit the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) website at <http://www.tn.nrcs.usda.gov/> and look for CRP under nation of the sun, wind and physical activity dehydrates the body. Mildly dehydrated people will absorb alcohol more quickly into their system and will have a higher blood alcohol content than non-dehydrated people. Nationally, more than 50 percent of all recreational boating fatalities involve alcohol use.

Programs or the Farm Services Administration (FSA) website at <http://www.fsa.usda.gov> and look for CRP under Conservation Programs. CRP is administered by FSA with the NRCS providing technical assistance.

This phenomenon is not only a concern for boat operators, but passengers as well. Passengers may think they can drink alcohol and boat safely if they have a designated driver, but fatalities and injuries can occur when intoxicated passengers fall overboard or try to do recreational activi-
