Horoscopes Gemini

(May 21-June 21)

Love comes with a few complications. That's what makes it so messy (and so potentially delightful).

(see Horoscopes pg. 2)

Horoscopes

Let yourself drift and dream, and most importantly, go with whatever emotions arise. Learn to observe your own nature.

Cancer

(Jun 22-Jul 22)

Still waters don't just run deep -- in your case, they have the potential to be a raging torrent. Someone didn't know there was so much to you. You have depth as well as breadth, and sometimes you surprise even yourself.

Leo

(Jul 23-Aug 23)

Feelings are just that -- feelings. They're a type of information and should neither be condemned nor elevated. Learn to sit with what comes up and you'll find a whole new arena of possibilities.

Virgo

(Aug 24-Sep 23)

Rushing through what needs to be taken care of will just leave you feeling shortchanged and a little resentful later on. Take a breath and slow it down. Pay attention to the small details as well as the big picture.

Libra

(Sept 24-Oct 23)

Your energy level softens. You're still flying high, but now things take a dreamier, sweeter turn. Could love be on the horizon? Well, why not? Just make sure you're not blinded by your own rose-colored glasses.

Scorpio

(Oct 24-Nov 22)

That's pretty tough talk emerging from your mouth right now, but is it really just covering up your fear? The people who are close to you know that you're much more tender-hearted than you generally let on. Send this page to a friend.

Sagittarius

(Nov 23-Dec 21)

You thought you knew someone. But sometimes when you think you understand how a relationship works, you get thrown a curveball. Shake off any disorientation. It's time to move ahead and explore this new arena.

Capricorn

(Dec 22-Jan 20)

Polish up that resume. Even if you're not ready to make a move yet, it's always a good idea to review your accomplishments. You'll be amazed at how much you've done -- and you'll be ready for the next big opportunity.

Aquarius

(Jan 21-Feb 19)

A little distraction is one thing, but complete avoidance will just make the situation that much worse. You don't have to dive into it headfirst, but you do have to ask yourself what's so scary about it.

Pisces

(Feb 20-Mar 20)

It's so tempting to backslide on a promise, especially when you're almost 100 percent positive that no one would notice.

But resist any and all such impulses. You're an honorable person, remember?

Aries

(Mar 21-Apr 20)

A private experience doesn't have to become public if you don't want it to. You may need to do some processing in unusual ways right now. Do whatever it takes for you to deal with this in the appropriate fashion.

Taurus

(Apr 21-May 20)

Love! It's a mystery, and that's both the fun and the frustration of it. Instead of trying to control it or figure it out, let it be. Examine what's going on, but don't try and make it become one thing or another.

Ethanol 85

the environmentally friendly fuel Ethanol 85 (E85).

E85 contains 85 percent ethanol, a renewable fuel made from corn or other crops, so it burns cleaner. Ethanol, or ethyl alcohol, helps reduce air pollution, is biodegradable and does not pollute groundwater.

The E85 pump is at the Pilot convenience store located at 205 Walker Springs Rd. at the Walker Springs Road Exit 379, just off I-40 in Knoxville. The fueling location is designated by the state as a Tennessee Green Island Biofuel Partner.

Flex-fuel vehicles from Pilot, Tennessee Department of Transportation, area Ford and GM dealerships, and the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation, among others that can use E85, lined up at the pump for the first fueling. The E85 pump can fuel four vehicles simultaneously.

"Pilot is proud to take this first step in bringing E85 fuel to Knoxville and East Tennessee," said Jimmy Haslam, CEO of Pilot Corporation. "As it is feasible, we will continue to install E85 pumps at other locations in Knoxville and elsewhere. E85 is an important breakthrough alternative fuel source. It's American made and can help U.S. farmers since ethyl alcohol comes from crops. As production increases, E85 will help ensure that our country has the proper supply of energy in light of continually increasing world-wide demand for gasoline."

Pilot began selling ethanol when A.E. Staley Manufacturing Company built its fuel alcohol plant in Loudon back in the 1980s.

All major auto manufacturers selling cars in the U.S. approve fuels enriched with up to 10 percent ethanol. Many manufacturers even recommend ethanol for use because of its clean-burning benefits.

"Ethanol is actually good for your car," said Alan Wright, vice president of supply and distribution for Pilot. "Millions of miles and years of testing prove that ethanol-enriched fuel enhances performance of today's engines by burning cooler and cleaner."

Wright said that Pilot plans to sell E85 at a lower price than other fuel the company sells. He added that E85 can only be used in Flexible Fuel Vehicles (FFV's), of which there are more than 6 million on the road today. E85 pump handles are yellow, and gas tank caps for FFV's have printed on them that they can accept flexible fuel. Pilot also will have highly visible signage explaining usage of E85 fuel.

"Attempting to use E85 in automobiles that aren't designated flexible fuel capable may harm the engine's seals and gaskets," Wright warned.

U.S. automakers

have been making E85 cars since 1992. Doing so earns them special credits toward government fuel-efficiency standards.

Pure ethanol contains 35 percent oxygen and is known as an "oxygenate" when added to fuel. Oxygenates are added to motor vehicle fuels to make them burn more cleanly, thereby reducing toxic tailpipe pollution, particularly carbon monoxide. Oxygenates also extend the fuel supply.

The company operates 46 locations in East Tennessee. In Knoxville alone, Pilot operates 32 locations convenient to neighborhoods and interstate travelers.
