Waterhouse

was very unsteady on her feet and at one point almost fell down an embankment. The deputy advised Waterhouse he would seat her in one of the cruisers for her safety until THP arrived to work the accident.

Ms. Waterhouse became combative and uncooperative. While trying to place her into the back of the patrol car she continued to resist and hit the officer in the chest with her fist. She then was placed in the back of the patrol car.

She continued to resist the efforts of Sgt. Wiggins and Deputy Jason Goddard and she attempted to head butt Sgt. Wiggins and struck him in the neck and shoulder area. After finally getting Waterhouse secured in the vehicle she refused to bend her legs preventing officers from closing the door and she kicked Sgt. Wiggins in the face.

After getting the door closed Waterhouse kicked the window causing the window trim to bust. Once THP arrived she resisted Sgt. Bobby Clevenger, THP and kicked him as well. She was then taken to the jail.

Tracy L. Steele, aka Waterhouse, 31, of Channel Drive, Loudon, was charged with DUI, assault, and resisting arrest by Sgt. Bobby Clevenger, THP and she was charged with vandalism and assault on an officer by Sgt. Jimmy Wiggins, LCSD.

Mills

cle was identified as Cody Mills.

Upon interviewing the driver, Cody Mills, the officer found he had driven the car from Union County and it belonged to his mother and she was the person that had reported the vehicle stolen on the same day.

Mr. Mills also had a strong odor of an alcoholic beverage on his person and performed poorly on sobriety tests and he admitted to drinking earlier in the day.

Cory R. Mills, 19, of Corryton Road, Luttrell, was charged with theft over $1000 and DUI. Sgt. Jeff Russell, LCSD made the arrest.

Award

ership and dedication desirable in education professionals. The winners will be named at the Department of Education's annual LEAD conference in October. "Effective instructional leaders guide school progress and serve as a valuable source of knowledge for their fellow educators," Education Commissioner Lana Seivers said. "The principals and supervisors named here have earned the esteem of their colleagues through their dedication to students and educational experience."

Candidates for these awards are nominated by regional study councils composed of fellow principals and supervisors. Tennessee has nine regional supervisor study councils and 18 regional principal study councils.

The Principal of the Year program celebrates school leaders who have implemented outstanding programs resulting in significant school improvement and actively advocated for the improvement of education for Tennessee's children. Nominees must be a current principal with 10 years experience in Tennessee public schools, five years of which must be administrative experience.

The Supervisor of the Year program, co-sponsored by Educational Networks of America (ENA), honors district-wide administrators who guide improvements in school programming while pursuing higher standards of student academic success. The winner and each of the finalists will receive awards provided by ENA at an awards banquet during the 2007 LEAD conference.

ed's note: Congratulations to Mr. Overstreet with many thanks for all the hard work he does for our precious children. We'll all be rooting for you come October!
