KAPOW

by: M. Lynch

The Knoxville Area Professional Wrestling (KAPOW) made it's Lenoir City Debut on Saturday night, July 21 at the National Guard Armory on Old Hwy. 95. It is the first such event to be held in the area in over 9 months. With a crowd that numbered in the hundreds, fans of professional wrestling eagerly anticipated the action from the area's newest promotion. Bell time was promptly at 8:00 p.m.

In the past the local area has had its fair share of wrestling events with sometimes questionable promoters and talent, however KAPOW, in it's first show showed promise to return to the glory days of independent wrestling leagues.

With the commercialism of mainstream productions such as the WWE and TNA, with its foul language and racy, sexed-up shows, it was a nice change to be able to take the kids to a wrestling show and not feel that I had to cover their ears every other word. Don't get me wrong, their were definitely pretty ladies in the show, and even a few in the crowd, but at least I didn't have to worry about anything "accidentally" falling out.

It was nice to see some competitive wrestling in a pretty wholesome family atmosphere AND at a reasonable price. Their were T-shirt giveaways and one wrestler even went out of his was to give a chid a personal gift just to put a smile on his face.

We were able to cheer for the good guys and boo the bad guys. We were able to have some laughs and some cold drinks, and most of all we were able to have a great time.

I would like to thank co-owners/promoters Jason Dixon and Nick Crisp. Way to go guys, keep up the good work and we look forward to seeing your show in the near future.

KAPOW currently has dates set for August 18th and Sept. 29 at the National Guard Armory, so come out and support the newest wrestling show in the area. The Daily Edition will be there to bring you all of the action.

between Bristol and Memphis. The corridor traverses nine of Tennessee's 12 Rural Planning Organizations (RPO) and eight of the state's 11 Metropolitan Planning Organizations (MPO)/Transportation Planning Organizations (TPO). The study represents the first multi-modal (car, truck and rail) corridor planning project undertaken by TDOT and is the first step in implementing the department's recently approved Long Range Transportation Plan.

"Tennessee continues to experience increased demands on our interstates, especially I-40 and I-81, but funding levels are not keeping pace with our transportation needs," said Commissioner Gerald Nicely. "This study will aid TDOT in identifying and implementing transportation solutions that provide cost effective short-term improvements while also working toward long-term investments in our transportation system."

The study will identify solutions to a variety of transportation challenges and provide a list of projects that can be considered by TDOT for the department's ten-year transportation improvement program. Projects will encompass capacity, roadway operations and maintenance, safety, freight movement, inter-modal connections, and economic access opportunities along I-40/I-81 for three time horizons:

horizon years 2011, 2016, and 2030.

In late summer, a series of meetings will be held along the corridor to present a project overview, list deficiencies, and offer an initial set of potential solutions. In spring 2008, another series of meetings will provide an opportunity for public review of the initial prioritization of I-40/I-81 improvement projects. The study will be completed in May 2008.
