of extending its range by thousands of kilometers. Defense officials said the Sukhoi sale would grant Iran long-range offensive capabilities.

I think this is a great plan that President Bush and the Russians have come up with. Russia is broke and what a better way to get money than sell the Iranians outdated airplanes.

Remember just a few month ago I told you that Russia was helping Iran with a missile defense and radar system. No matter how much money they spend it will not help them stop what is about to happen to the Iranian Military.

I think Russia has more to gain in helping us than in helping them, so don't get too upset when you hear otherwise in the regular news.

Here's a bit of news I bet you didn't know, Iran can't make jet fuel or regular gasoline, they have to import it. All that oil and no gas, wonder if that's why we have so many ships in the Persian Gulf.

Wouldn't take much to put a Naval blockade around the whole country. -Gus
