Lean Beef Can Fit into a Tasty, Healthy Eating Plan

Looking for ways to "beef up" your recipes? With thought and planning, beef can make meal times tasty and healthy. Choosing the right cut of beef and enjoying proper portions can make it easy to add beef to a heart-healthy eating plan.

DAILY EDITION August 2, 2007 • Page 3

Choose cuts of beef that aren't heavily marbled and appear redder in color. Good beef choices include: Eye of the round, Top round, Top loin, Flank steak.

Once you've settled on a lean cut of beef, remember your portion sizes. A three-ounce piece of beef is about the size of a deck of cards. If you generally eat larger pieces, enjoy it less often or stretch it out by adding vegetables to a kabob or mix meat with pasta or rice.

violation of order of protection.

According to the warrant, Officer April Farmer, LPD received a call of a possible domestic situation on Church Street. Upon arrival the officer spoke with Shawn McNabb who lives at that residence and he stated Deborah, whom he has an order of protection against, came to his residence and refused to leave.

A check through NCIC confirmed the order was active. Officer April Farmer, LPD made the arrest.

Stupid Criminals
Cottonwood, Arizona, Nick Kostas is accused of robbing a residence. For reasons known only to Kostas, he committed the crime naked. When the homeowner returned home unexpectedly, a naked Kostas fled, only to pause just outside the front door to ask the homeowner if he could loan him a pair of shorts. The homeowner complied, but this still didn't help Kostas make his getaway. Police found him next door, trying to hot wire a car...and wearing those borrowed shorts.

Langley

According to the warrants, filed by Detective Jack Fine, LCPD; on March 28, 2007 Travis Langley did make entry to a house trailer located on Browder Hollow Road by breaking out the front door window and entering the trailer and then kicked the inner wooden bedroom door and took a Tech 9 weapon and two magazine clips without the true owners permission.

Damages done to the front door and the wooden inner door was $200. The weapon and clips were valued at $500.

Travis Langley, 22, of Coffee Circle, Lenoir City was charged with vandalism under $500, burglary and theft over $500. Deputy Bryan Blakney, LCSD made the arrest.

Contractor

According to records Mike and Leona Bard, Dudala Lane, told Detective Jason Smith, LCSD, they wrote a check to Barbara McLean for the amount of $30,742.05 sometime in October of 2006 and $5668 of the check was to be paid to Kenny Yunkers for masonry work.

Mr. Yunkers told Mr. Bard he had not received any money and Barbara McLean said the Bards had not paid her. McLean has paid approximately $2000 to Yunkers.

Mr. Bard further reported the original contract stated that money paid to McLean Construction was to be paid to the subcontractors within five days and that did not occur.

The value of the masonry work, labor and materials, was estimated at $5668.

Police Beat

Robert Blake Dot-

son, 24, of Washington Pike, Philadelphia, was charged with driving on suspended.

According to the report, Dotson was observed not wearing a seat belt and was stopped. A check showed his license to be suspended for failure to satisfy a citation.

Officer Blake Norman, LPD made the arrest.

Stupid Criminals

Thomas Lang who was missing his fourteen year old girlfriend while she took summer school, hatched a plan to get her out of class. He headed down to the school and told the administrators that he was a police officer conducting a drug investigation and he needed to talk to the young lady. A couple of things caused his plan to go awry. First, he didn't bother to try to dress like a police officer and second, he looked his age, seventeen. The administrator called the cops and Lang was charged with trespassing.

asked if he could test drive a white, 2000 Ford F-150 pickup truck.

Sandidge said he put a magnetic dealer tag on the truck and Bobby then left in it and never returned. Sandidge further advised that Bobby did have a vehicle when he arrived at the lot and it was parked in a lot north of his, but later in the day he noticed Bobby's vehicle also was gone.

"Bobby" was described as a white male, around 6'2" tall with balding brown hair. He weighs about 400 lbs. The truck was valued at $8000.

Police Beat

Justin Andrew Bullard, 21, of Shaw Ferry Road, Lenoir City was charged with public intoxication.

According to the report, Officer Jason Butler, LCPD was dispatched to Finley Drive for a possible unwanted guest. The victim advised that Justin Bullard came to the address and busted out the rear bedroom window causing the victim to fear for her safety. Upon arrival the officer observed Justin Bullard walking in the back yard of the residence. Upon making contact with Mr. Bullard the officer observed a strong odor of an alcoholic beverage on Mr. Bullard's breath and person. Officer Jason Butler, LCPD made the arrest.

Bullard was further charged with assault by domestic violence.

According to the report, a 911 call was placed by Shannon Norris that an unwanted guest was outside her residence attempting to break down her door. She identified the subject as Justin Bullard. He broke the window out of her bedroom with a mattock.

Mr. Bullard was extremely intoxicated and at some point kicked the chain length fence, bending it. He picked up a cooler and threw it at an unknown vehicle traveling down Finley Drive. He then fled on foot was apprehended on Finley Drive. He did call his mother from the jail while Officer Whitt was taking a report. Officer Jamie Whitt, LCPD made the arrest.

UT Medical Center nurses earn certification through American Board of Neuroscience Nursing

Several nurses at The University of Tennessee Medical Center recently earned Certified Neuroscience Registered Nurse (CNRN) certification through the American Board of Neuroscience Nursing. The group includes stroke coordinator Jennifer Henry, RN, CNRN, radiology coordinator Joel Snyder, RN, BSN, CNRN, as well as Kathy Arnold, RN, CNRN, Edwina Jackson, RN, CNRN, Ada Lindsay, RN, CNRN, CCRN, Jeannie Myers, RN, CNRN and Stephanie Weber, RN, CNRN, all with the surgical critical care units at the medical center.

"Achieving CNRN certification is an outstanding accomplishment by our nurses who will provide care for patients with neurological disorders," said Ann Giffin, vice president of the Brain and Spine Institute at UT Medical Center. "Jennifer, Joel, Kathy, Edwina Jeannie, Ada and Stephanie have all proven their skills and dedication to patient care at the medical center and this is another step toward showing just how valuable they are to our staff and patients at the medical center."

About neuroscience nursing and the American Board of Neuroscience Nursing:

Neuroscience nursing practice includes clinical practice, consultation, research, administration or nursing in the neuroscience field. Certification is an important credential that attests to the achievement of specialty knowledge beyond basic nursing preparation. It is evidence of clinical expertise and leadership in neuroscience nursing practice. CNRN status is granted for five years and is renewed through validation of continuing education or re-examination.

The American Board of Neuroscience Nursing (ABNN) is the independent, not-for-profit corporation established to design, implement and evaluate a certification program for professional nurses involved in the specialty practice of neuroscience nursing. ABNN is solely responsible for the development, administration and evaluation of the certification program. Neuroscience nursing is the diagnosis and treatment of actual or potential patient and family responses to nervous system function and dysfunction across the healthcare continuum. ABNN promotes the practice and the contributions made by neuroscience nurses to the health of the nation through the certification of registered nurses.

For more information about the University of Tennessee Medical Center, visit online at www.utmedicalcenter.org.
