plant.

Officer Evans advised there were two suspect(s) running beside the plant.

Officer Houser observed two white males in dark clothing running beside the building. The officer identified himself and started running after them. When the officer reached the building he did not see them but noticed an open dock door and then entered the Honda warehouse.

Officer Houser advised Officer Evans of the open door and asked for him to advise Honda of the situation.

Officer Houser then made contact with a member of the Honda security team, Mr. Renninger, and advised why he was inside.

Mr. Renninger stated they came running in and said they didn't mean to cause any problems; they were from Georgia and wanted to get a room. Mr. Renninger stated they started to run and he told them to stop and then turned them over to Charles, another member of the Honda Security team who took them into the control room.

The officer then made contact with Jeremy Robert Collins and Jesse Luke Cox in the control room. They did not have the backpacks with them and the officer asked them where the backpacks were. They stated they threw them behind the building. Officer Bill Evans retrieved the two backpacks and a flashlight.

Mr. Collins stated they stopped at the motel, did not have enough money for a room and they just went for a walk. Collins said he tripped and started running to catch his balance.

KAPOW returns to LC with a bang!

Armory on old Hwy 95 and was well worth the price of admission. With a hearty crowd of wrestling fans on hand KAPOW didn't disappoint.

From the opening bell, which started promptly at 8:00 p.m. as promised, the action was non-stop. The Buggy Boy, with his patented "How may I pin you" vest and shopping cart antics defeated Edward Idol. However, the crowd was a little disappointed Buggy Boy didn't fold Idol in half and push him off in his cart. (Maybe next time)

The Buggy Boy pins Edward Idol to the mat for the win in the opening match

Donovan Daniels, who coincidentally, showed up with a striking set of hot pink armbands (I'm still not sure what that was about, kinda' the same color of Shannon Neal's hair from Salon 220), pulled off the upset over crowd favorite "Top Gun" Matt Cruise. But even though Matt lost the match, he won over the fans with his pre-match rendition of You've Lost That Loving Feeling to local wrestling fan Joyce Rogers Wilson.

Robbie Race, in a rematch with Travis Sawyer and Rich Kavana, won the match but payed the price after interference by Devon Drake left Robbie laid out on his back in the center of the ring. I thought it was a shame that Travis felt he needed to bring in outside help, but I guess when you're getting the heck stomped out of you you'll take what you can get, huh Travis?

By the way, Rich, don't let the good people of Lenoir City catch you out somewhere. I have a feeling if they do you'll need that wheelchair from last time.

The tag-team event of the night saw the DRI (Death Row Inmates) of Brushy Mountain take on Robbie and Rip Cassidy. Now wrestling fans, I know how the game works, but the DRI were out-classed, out-wrestled and in the end should have been defeated, but with their usual penitentiary behavior the DRI were victorious. Good job Robbie and Rip, maybe next time Det. Arnwine will put those guys back where they belong!!

By far the best match of the evening (not that any of it was bad) was the main event.

The table, ladder and chair match between Shane Andrews and Wayne Adkins was a demonstration of athleticism and daring rarely seen in this or any other city. With high flying maneuvers and high impact consequences, these two athletes put on one heck of a match. It was a shame there had to be a winner and a loser.

I would tell all of you who won, but you'll just have to come see it next time for yourself. I personally think that Shane and Wayne are amazing and that they should team up an put the old Death Row Inmates in their place.

KAPOW's next show will be September 29th at the National Guard Armory on Hwy 95 in Lenoir City. Bell time is 8:00 p.m. and it is sure to be one heck of a good time.
