The male driver exited his vehicle and approached the officer's vehicle. The driver had a strong odor of alcohol on his person.

In attempting to identify the subject, he could not produce any identification and his speech was slurred. He was identified as Alan L. Smith and was asked to perform a series of field sobriety tests to which he performed poorly on.

A check of Mr. Smith's license revealed them to be revoked in the state of Tennessee for DUI. Mr. Smith was read the implied consent form, consenting to a BAC test and registered .20%.

A check showed 7 prior DUIs and two driving on revoked convictions.

Alan L. Smith, 54, of Killion St., Louisville, TN was charged with 8th offense DUI and 3rd driving on revoked license. Officer Brendan Deboer, LPD made the arrest.

Police Beat

Vickie Lynn Hartline, 47, of Hill Street, Lenoir City was charged with domestic violence and disorderly conduct.

According to the report, Hartline was involved in a domestic disturbance on Hill Street where she and the victim had gotten into an argument in the front yard of the residence. According to the victim, Hartline was inebriated and belligerent when she came home.

The victim reported when the pair got into an argument Hartline came toward the victim and broke several lawn ornaments.

When police arrived Hartline was in the front yard yelling, cursing and disturbing the peace. Lt. David Flynn LCPD made the arrest.

Candido Gonzalez-Gonzalez, 30, of Hackberry Street, Loudon, was charged with public intoxication.

Trooper Eric Miller, THP made the arrest and the suspect was transported to the Loudon County Jail by LCPD.

Amanda Nicole Jones, 28, of California Avenue, Oak Ridge, was charged with violation of the check law.

Deputy John Wilson, LCSD made the arrest.

Daniel Duenas-Ramirez, 33, of Cedar St., Loudon was charged with domestic violence assault and resisting stop, halt, frisk and arrest.

Deputy Adam Bryant made the arrest.

received a call from a female advising her car had been stolen. Upon speaking with her, the woman stated she had gone to bed around 9:30 p.m. and was awakened by her brother who said her car had been taken by Daniel Cagley and Cagley had been charged with DUI and her car had been towed.

The woman stated she did not give Daniel Cagley permission to drive her vehicle nor did her brother give Cagley permission to do so.

The victim had allowed Cagley to stay at her residence the night of the incident because he was sleeping out in the cold and she felt sorry for him.

Mr. Cagley had taken the vehicle from the residence without permission from the registered owner and was found in possession of and operating the vehicle at the time of his arrest.

Joseph Daniel Cagley, 33, of Brittany Lane, Lenoir City, was charged with theft over $1000. Deputy Bryan Blakney, Identity theft

Butler advised he called the business and told personnel he did not order the certificates, nor did he have a JC Penny card or account, and they said his credit card had been used to make the transactions. The business representative also told Butler the three $300 gift certificates had been ordered on November 11th and then two more $300 certificates were ordered on the 18th.

No other information was available at the time of the report.

Detective Mike Newman, LPD, made the arrest.

to buckle-up, obey posted speed limits signs and stay sober. State Troopers will be out in force and will conduct more than 50 sobriety and driver license checkpoints statewide.

The 2008 Thanksgiving holiday period begins at 6:00 p.m. on Wednesday, November 26th and runs through midnight Sunday, November 30th.

Thanks to a grant provided through the Governor's Highway Safety Office, THP will kick off the long holiday weekend by taking part in a law enforcement campaign called C.A.R.E. (Combined Accident Reduction Effort) Across Tennessee. On Wednesday, November 26, 2008, from 6:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m., a State Trooper will be posted every 15 miles along Interstate 40. Troopers will be looking for aggressive drivers, hazardous moving violations, impaired drivers and drivers who fail to buckle up.

"The C.A.R.E. Across Tennessee campaign allows us to increase our visibility during what is typically one of the busiest travel days of the year," said Department of Safety Commissioner Dave Mitchell. "We will work very hard to keep Tennessee roads and highways safe, and we ask drivers to do their part. Thanksgiving is a time to be with family and loved ones, and no one wants to spend it at a police station, hospital or even worse."

Thirteen people were killed in crashes on Tennessee roads during the 2007 Thanksgiving holiday weekend. That is a decrease from 2006 when 20 people died.

"The drop in fatalities proves that our enforcement efforts are working, but I won't be satisfied until the number of lives lost is zero," stated Colonel Mike Walker. "That may sound unrealistic, but if we don't have that goal, then we're not out there doing the job that we should be doing."

In all of 2007, there were 1,210 traffic fatalities in Tennessee, and of these, 390 involved a driver with an illegal blood alcohol concentration (BAC) of .08 or greater. Sobriety and driver license checkpoints are scheduled at various times throughout the holiday weekend in the state's eight THP districts. A list of checkpoints is provided in this release.

Before hitting the road, drivers should remember to inspect their cars, including tires, lights and wipers. If someone gets stranded on the highway or spots an aggressive driver, they can call *THP and be connected with the closest Tennessee Highway Patrol District Office.

The Tennessee Department of Safety's mission is (www.tennessee.gov/safety) to ensure the safety and general welfare of the public. The department encompasses the Tennessee Highway Patrol, Office of Homeland Security and Driver License Services. General areas of responsibility include law enforcement, safety education, motorist services and terrorism prevention.
