Charged

James Lellan Oody, 62, of Carding Machine Road, Loudon, was charged with possession of schedule II and possession of schedule III.

Officer Blake Norman, LPD, reported he observed a red Chevy Blazer traveling south on Carding Machine Road and noticed it pulled into Hardees' parking lot on Highway 72. The officer then observed Mr. Charles Emory Gaston driving the vehicle and it is known that his driver's license are revoked in the state of Tennessee for DUI.

The vehicle also had a tinted shield over the registration of the vehicle.

Once the officer stopped the vehicle and confirmed the driver was Mr. Gaston he ran him through NCIC where Gaston's licensee came back revoked for DUI.

Gaston also had very bloodshot, glossy eyes, and slurred speech. He was then asked to perform a series of field sobriety tasks and he poorly on them. Gaston was read his implied consent and reportedly denied all tests.

Oody was the passenger and a search of his person produced a plastic baggy and a cellophane bag in the right front watch pocket of his jeans. The plastic baggy contained approximately 17 Lorcet, 10 mg., and the cellophane bag approximately 1 1/4 Methadone pills, 40 mg.

and manage North America's ducks and geese. Banding data from game birds is analyzed yearly and determining hunting regulation development as well as for learning changes in population sizes.

Data from banding can be used to evaluate hunting pressure, estimate productivity and survival and determine how vulnerable different ages and sexes are to hunting pressure. All of these are key components to managing game birds for sustainable harvest.

The USFWS has implemented a toll-free number for hunters to report band numbers. The toll free number is 1-800-327-BAND (2263). The information to report is the band number, the date of harvest, and the county or area of harvest. Bands do not need to be sent to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

plate wire-tied onto the vehicle, which put it in violation of the registration law.

Upon stopping the vehicle, the officer identified the driver as Mr. Darnell. Upon talking with Darnell, he acted very nervous. Mr. Darnell then gave consent to search the vehicle. Upon looking in the truck, the officer found a plastic bag with a green leafy substance believed to be marijuana and two rolled cigarettes also believed to be marijuana.

Records indicate Darnell has been convicted twice before for simple possession and once for sale and delivery of marijuana, making this a felony possession. Officer Dewayne Williams, LPD made the arrest.

Checks

investigate the theft of checks.

The officer reported he spoke with four women who stated they have three joint checking accounts in their names and for the past two months they have been observing forged checks being withdrawn from their accounts. They have closed all accounts with their bank and have printed out all activity from their accounts.

The women reportedly said they know who has been forging their checks. The case is under investigation.
