Burnette

Sgt. Jimmey Wiggins, LCSD recognized the driver as Ricky Lynn Burnette who had an outstanding warrant for violation of probation.

The deputy turned around to stop the vehicle and the subject sped up. The officer activated his lights and siren but the subject did not stop.

The vehicle increased its speed to over 110mph in an attempt to evade arrest. The speed continued through a 45mph zone and a 25mph construction zone. The pursuit ended at Tellico Harbor on Hwy 72.

During the pursuit the subject almost struck several vehicles and crossed with heavy traffic and did not even slow down for a stop sign, almost striking a vehicle head on.

The subject turned right into Tellico harbor subdivision and maintained a high rate of speed and the deputy lost sight of the vehicle and later found it unoccupied about 10 minutes later.

An area search was done with a K9 but Ricky Burnette was not located at that time.

Wanted: Donation of a recliner for an elderly, handicapped woman. Good condition. Needs to recline all the way. I can pick it up. 865-406-5960.

A check of the vehicle revealed it to be stolen out of Knox County. A check of Burnette's license showed them to be revoked for DUI.

Scams

soliciting money on behalf of the State Troopers or the Tennessee Highway Patrol.

"The Tennessee Highway Patrol wants citizens to know that we are a government agency and do not solicit charitable donations," said Colonel Mike Walker. "However, we do understand that there are organizations in which some of our personnel may be members that perform legitimate charity works."

"We want consumers to be cautious of these scams and make sure they research the charity before making a donation," said Mary Clement, Director for the Tennessee Division of Consumer Affairs. "We encourage consumers to report possible scams to their local police department or contact our office."

Consumer Affairs and the THP both advise that they are aware of only one legitimate Memorial Fund on behalf Trooper Jenks that has been setup through Am-South Bank in Tennessee.

Here are a few tips consumers should consider before making any charitable contribution:

Check to see that the charity is registered with the Tennessee Charitable Solicitations Division and also check with your local Better Business Bureau before donating.

Be wary of appeals that are long on emotion but short on what the charity will do to address the needs of recipients.

Ask how much of your gift or contribution would be used for the purpose mentioned in the appeal, and how much would go towards administrative and fund-raising costs.

ing costs.

Find out what the charity intends to do with any excess contributions remaining after the needs of the recipients are addressed.

While there may be a sense of urgency to the appeal, remember there will be opportunities to give to other charities in the future.

Beware of charlatans who telephone and pose as members of a reputable charity. Their appeal may sound sincere and their organization may sound worthy. However, it's best to ask that more information be mailed to you so you can research the charity before you decide. If the caller refuses, don't donate, simply hang up. And, most importantly, never give out your credit card or bank account number to someone who calls you.

If you would like to file a complaint, please feel free to call Consumer Affairs toll-free at 1-800-342-8385 or visit www.tennessee.gov/consumer.
