smell a strong odor of an alcoholic beverage coming from his person. Linginfelter was confused and had slurred speech and could not perform sobriety tasks due to a medical condition.

Upon searching Linginfelter the officer found a plastic baggie with approximately 4.3 grams of a green leafy substance believed to be marijuana. This was found in his pants pocket.

Upon arriving at the jail and having been read the implied consent form, Linginfelter refused a BAC test and refused to sign the form as well.

Carl Steven Linginfelter, 37, of Mealer Road, Lenoir City was charged with DUI 3rd, simple possession and implied consent. Officer Nathan Wilson, LCPD made the arrest.

successes is as vital to accountability as implementing reform when needed. Local educators and students should take pride in the example they have set for the rest of the state."

Title I is a designation given to schools where a large number or percentage of students come from economically disadvantaged backgrounds. This award program is based on performance on the annual Tennessee Comprehensive Assessment Program (TCAP).

"This tremendous achievement shows that schools with high percentages of students from economically disadvantaged backgrounds can still meet high standards," said Julie McCargar, Executive Director of Federal Programs. "Congratulations to the district staff, school staff, and students at these schools."

Fishing

bait store and has been the home of some of the greatest fisherman in Tennessee.

Toad's place is unique; he has been collecting old fishing stuff for years and he loves to hang things on every inch of the walls and ceilings. He has a stuffed beaver with a seven-foot wooden paddle screwed to its head that hangs in the wader department. Ask him about it and he will tell you the story of how he and old Delmer Shanks fought that beaver on a catfish noodling adventure.

Back in the lure room, he has a full size boat sitting smack dab in the middle of an indoor pond. There you can see how lures work and learn different techniques for different tackles.

Now the real reason he put this pond inside the store was Toad's, Coonfoot and Sven have been known to hit the bottle every blue moon or so, and if you drink, you got to fish, so now he is safe from getting a BUI.
