Cell phone revolution

Knoxville, — Remember when cell phones were more science fiction than practical necessities in our every day lives? Cell phones have changed dramatically since the first cell phone call was made on April 3, 1973. They have transformed from 2-pound "brick" phones to the size of credit cards that weigh only a few ounces. Today's smartphones send and receive emails, take photos and video, as well as provide directions, news and weather updates.

Martin Cooper, known as the father of the cell phone, made the first cell phone call 35 years ago using a "brick" phone in New York City. Ten years later, the 1 1/2-pound DynaTAC phone became available to the public and sold for $3,500, for one hour of talk time and eight hours of standby time.

During the 1990s, the popularity of cell phones started to rise. The cell phone went from being rare and expensive equipment of the business elite to a pervasive, low-cost personal item. With smaller hand held devices, made possible with energy-efficient electronics and more cellular sites, wireless subscribers in the United States grew from 7.5 million in 1992 to more than 243.4 million in 2007.

"The advancements in cell phone technology and network improvements allow customers to make a call anytime, anywhere," said Jack Brundige, U.S. Cellular's director of sales for Tennessee. "Wireless communications continues to evolve and change to meet the growing desires of wireless customers that want access to friends, family, and information."

Early cell phones could only store up to 20 numbers. Today, cell phones can store thousands of contacts and with web based storage, like U.S. Cellular's My Contacts Backup, customers have a secure location for numbers in case a cell phone is lost or they choose to upgrade to a new cell phone.

"The cell phone is no longer just for placing calls," added Brundige. "Customers can find their way to an appointment with GPS location based services like Your Navigator™, answer emails on the go, personalize their phones with a favorite song from Tone Room and take pictures to use as their screen's wallpaper. The opportunities for information are endless with access to the Internet. Cell phones have become an essential tool that keeps us connected with loved ones and our daily routines."

More than 12 percent of U.S. households have "cut the cord" completely and rely solely on wireless phones instead of landlines, up from 7.7 percent in 2005.

Justice

gene Justice, 30, White Wing Road, Lenoir City, with felony evading arrest, two counts of reckless endangerment, aggravated assault by domestic violence, driving on suspended license.

Deputy Brian Blakney, LCSD, charged Justice

with felony reckless endangerment and fleeing.

According to records, Deputy Williams had warrants for Justice when police received word he had left Ruby Tuesday's in white Chevy pickup going north on Highway 321.

The officer reported he located the truck on Hickory Creek Road and when he turned to check it the driver sped away. Unable to give pursuit due to heavy traffic, the lawman followed after the vehicle and saw it turn into Avalon Subdivision.

The truck continued through the neighborhood on to Highway 70 and turned toward Highway 321. The vehicle was traveling in excess of 90 m.p.h. at times.

Deputy Blakney had come to Highway 70 and was waiting for the truck with blue lights flashing.

Justice reportedly ran a red light at the intersection without due regard for the public's safety. He then attempted to make a curve on Hines Valley Road and lost control, flipping the truck several times.

Justice jumped from the vehicle and fled on foot, but was apprehended a short time later by Cpl. Pete McGinley, who had been waiting on Hines Valley Road.

EMS checked and cleared Justice and he was then transported to jail.
