ride down to Nashville. Someone will have to let Coonfoot hitch a ride with them.

See he lost his driver's license last year after he was charged with destroying one of them there deer decoys. The judge probably shouldn't have been so tough on him, but then again he did run over the decoy twice with his wrecker while it was on the porch of the Rangers Station.

Now the problem with Coonfoot is he never, ever shuts up and he never, ever wears shoe's.

The talking can be fixed by cranking up the radio, but his feet, good God at the stench! This man's feet have to be the worst smelling feet in the State.

Well, guess that can be fixed too: either put the chum in the truck to offset the smell, or put Coonfoot in the boat...
