July Is National Blueberry Month

Summer is the height of berry season, and no berry says summer more than the blueberry.

Blueberries are among the fruits with the highest amounts of antioxidants, which may help fight aging, cancer and heart disease. Blueberries are also loaded with dietary fiber and vitamins A and C.

While they're in abundance, stock up on blueberries and freeze them (unwashed to keep the skins from toughening) in a single layer in freezer bags. Unwashed berries freeze individually and allow you to use just the right amount every time. Be sure to wash them when you are ready to eat them.

Pour blueberries over cereal, yogurt or add to fruit salads for a delicious, healthful taste of summer all year long

Fishing

We was all sitting around down at Toad's Bait Shop last Sunday when a young feller come in. Toad went over to him and asked him what he needed and a couple minutes later we saw Toad scratching his bald head.

The boy had told Toad he was still here from the big FLY tournament; he also said that he was a pro, but had never actually fished.

Boy did this ever have Toad upset. How in the world could this young feller be considered a pro?

The boy was picking up one of everything and asking Toad how it worked. Toad took the kid over to the indoor pond and was dem-oing some stuff when the kid explained that he didn't own any tackle. By this time poor old Toad was going batty wondering about this kid's status. Toad finally looked at the kid and said, "How in the world did you get a pro label? I have fished pert near my whole life and was just considered only a couple of years ago to be a pro."

The kid said that was the easy part; said, "I beat Bass Killer," - a video game... -Gus

State troopers & help just a phone call away

Nashville, - The Tennessee Department of Safety wants to remind motorists to dial *THP if they encounter trouble on the road.

The Tennessee Highway Patrol responds to more than half a million calls for service each year. State Troopers are there if a driver needs them, whether it's for a flat tire or a serious crash. Motorists can dial *THP (*847) from their cell phone and will be automatically connected to the closest THP dispatch office.

"We are working 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year," said THP Colonel Mike Walker. "If you dial *THP, an operator will make sure that a Trooper is sent to your location to help, and it doesn't matter how small the problem may be. Being stuck on the side of the highway can be dangerous, and we are here to serve and protect everyone traveling Tennessee highways."

Drivers can still dial 911 if they are in an emergency situation. Dialing *THP may cut down on wait time since the call goes directly to the Troopers where they are located. This is an important reason why motorists need to be aware of their surroundings as they travel. It is much easier for Troopers to locate a driver needing assistance if that driver can provide details such as a mile marker, road sign and/or landmark.

Motorists are also encouraged to dial *THP if they suspect another driver is under the influence or driving aggressively. Drivers who believe they are the victim of road rage or any other form of aggressive driving should never retaliate or react in a manner that causes more danger. When it is safe to use a cell phone, that driver should call *THP and provide THP dispatch with their location, a description of the other vehicle and details regarding the incident.

The Tennessee Department of Safety's mission is (www.tennessee.gov/safety) to ensure the safety and general welfare of the public. The department encompasses the Tennessee Highway Patrol, Office of Homeland Security and Driver License Services. General areas of responsibility include law enforcement, safety education, motorist services and terrorism prevention.
