Huffine

was met by a woman. She advised her son Jesse Huffine and his girlfriend were fighting. Mr. Huffine was sitting on the couch and the deputy found the girlfriend lying on the bathroom floor near the hallway where he had seen Mr. Huffine walking back and forth.

The lawman reported he asked the woman if she was ok. She started crying and advised her head was really hurting.

According to the officer's report, after the woman lifted her head he could see she had a bruise on her left eye and swelling over and around her left temple. She was unable to clearly tell Deputy Wiggins what happened due to her pain from the head injury.

An ambulance was called statements were taken from Mr. Huffine and his mother as to what had happened. Mr. Huffine advised his girlfriend fell and hit the toilet.

Deputy Wiggins stated in his report after paramedics got the woman to her feet he saw four shoe prints on her t-shirt, two prints on the back, one on the front shoulder and one on the abdomen area. He also noticed red marks on her neck that appeared to be from being choked.

After the arrest and transport of Mr. Huffine to the jail, the deputy went to the Fort Loudoun ER. The woman reportedly told Deputy Wiggins she and Huffine were at a friends house when an ex-boyfriend showed up. Huffine saw them talking and started yelling at her, smacking her in the face and threatening to choke her and drag her home.

After the couple left and arrived home, Huffine allegedly started yelling at her again. The woman said she went into the bathroom and Huffine followed. He then hit her, pushed her to the floor and kicked her repeatedly, causing her to lose consciousness. When she woke up, law enforcement was there.

tionally decreased this week over last week. This is the second week of national decreases in ILI after four consecutive weeks of sharp increases. (All regions but one showed declines in ILI. Region I (CT, ME, MA, NH, RI and VT) continues to show sharp increases in ILI activity. While ILI declined overall nationally, visits to doctors for influenza-like illness remain higher than what is seen during the peak of many regular flu seasons.

* Total influenza hospitalization rates for laboratory-confirmed flu continue to climb and remain higher than expected for this time of year. Hospitalization rates continue to be highest in younger populations with the highest hospitalization rate reported in children 0-4 years old.

* The proportion of deaths attributed to pneumonia and influenza (P&I) based on the 122 Cities Report continues to increase and has been higher than what is expected for six weeks now. In addition, 35 flu-related pediatric deaths were reported this week: 26 of these deaths were associated with laboratory confirmed 2009 H1N1; eight were influenza A viruses, but were not subtyped; and one was an influenza B virus. Since April 2009, CDC has received reports of 156 laboratory-confirmed pediatric 2009 H1N1 deaths, one influenza B death, and another 23 pediatric deaths that were laboratory confirmed as influenza, but the flu virus subtype was not determined.

* Forty-six states are reporting widespread influenza activity at this time; a decline of two states over last week. They are: Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming. This many reports of widespread activity at this time of year are unprecedented during seasonal flu.

* Almost all of the influenza viruses identified so far continue to be 2009 H1N1 influenza A viruses. These viruses remain similar to the virus chosen for the 2009 H1N1 vaccine, and remain susceptible to the antiviral drugs oseltamivir and zanamivir with rare exception.

* All data are preliminary and may change as more reports are received.

Terrie Rhonda Bryson, 28, of Etowah was charged with driving on suspended license, criminal impersonation and possession of paraphernalia.

According to records, Sgt. R.S. Newman, LPD observed a gold Toyota Corolla, around 1:09 am traveling at a high rate of speed and saw it pull across the parking lot of the Shell Market on Highway 72. As it exited the parking lot it cut off another vehicle, nearly hitting it.

Sgt. Newman stopped the car and the driver identified herself as Tonya Brown. He asked her to exit the vehicle and she was extremely nervous, digging in her pockets.

Bryson would not follow instructions and continued to dig in her pockets. A pat down of her jacket found a small metal pipe with a screen in the end of it. It was burnt on one end and is commonly used to smoke narcotics.

Bryson continued to tell officers, her name was Tonya Brown, although a pill bottle was also found in her pocket with the name Terrie Bryson on it.

Bryson was arrested for the drug paraphernalia and while inventorying her vehicle, the officer found a license belonging to Terrie Bryson. The picture on the license was that of the driver and NCIC showed Terrie Bryson's license were suspended in the state of Tennessee.

Ms. Bryson reportedly gave false information to hide the fact she has a suspended license. Officer Bennie Houser, LPD, was also on scene.

A passenger in the Toyota, identified as David Anthony Onbey, 31, also of Etowah was charged with public intoxication.

Onbey reportedly smelled of an alcoholic beverage and stated to Sgt. Newman he had been drinking beer.
