as well.

Upon locating Mr. Hensley at the EZ Stop the officer observed a strong odor of an alcoholic beverage on his person and slurred speech. Upon attempting to take Hensley into custody he resisted by pulling away from the officer and was taken into custody. A search produced a pill bottle containing multiple pills, which are a schedule III narcotic.

Ray David Hensley, 44, of Shaw Ferry Road, Lenoir City, was charged with domestic violence assault, possession of schedule III, resisting stop, halt, frisk and arrest and public intoxication. Officer James Bowman, LCPD made the arrest.

Rule

ment Commissioner James Neeley announced.

The emergency rule requiring use of the Automated Partial Claims System (APS) was effective the date it was filed, January 28, 2009. Employers have until February 27, 2009 to comply with the rule.

"The department's system for processing claims has been strained as a result of the extraordinary increase in the volume of unemployment claims presently being filed," said Commissioner Neeley. "By requiring employers who are filing claims for 50 or more employees to use the APS, resources will be freed up to better meet the current demands."

Neeley said employers file partial claims for their employees when they have a reduced amount of work because of holidays, inclement weather, or lack of work. Under these circumstances, many employees qualify for unemployment benefits. By using the APS, the employer eliminates repetitive work for himself and does away with longer processing time for claimants.

He explained that the APS is user-friendly. "Employers must only enter information identifying their business one time. Additionally, employers only need to enter each employee one time into the program's database, then add or delete employees as needed. The program creates a secure file of all employees, and the employer applies specific wage information for employees affected in the week of partial layoff."

After the employer enters all information, he attaches the text file to an e-mail and sends it to the department for prompt processing.

A penalty in the amount of $50 may be assessed against any employer who fails to use the Department of Labor & Workforce Development's Automated Partial Claims System when filing 50 or more partial claims in any week.

The APS is simple to set up and use. Instructions for filing partial claims electronically and free Automated Partial Claims System software can be downloaded through the Department of Labor & Workforce Development's Web site at www.tn.gov/labor-wfd/aps/.

From the 1500s:

-Lead cups were used to drink ale or whisky. The combination would sometimes knock them out for a couple of days. Someone walking along the road would take them for dead and prepare them for burial. They were laid out on the kitchen table for a couple of days and the family would gather around and eat and drink and wait and see if they would wake up. Hence the custom of holding a "wake."

her possession.

Loria Ann Arwood, 40, of Maple Lane, Loudon, was charged with DUI.

According to the report, while on routine patrol Corporal Ernie Brown, LCSO came upon a vehicle parked on the shoulder of I-75. The front of the vehicle had extensive damage and steam was coming from the radiator.

The officer pulled in to check on it and found Ms. Arwood behind the wheel. There was a strong odor of alcohol coming from the vehicle and Ms. Arwood was complaining of leg pain. EMS was called to the scene.

Ms. Arwood reported to the officer she was going home to Loudon but was going in the wrong direction and could not tell the officer where she had been or what she had hit.

There was a debris pile in the right lane of the interstate where it appeared Arwood rear-ended a semi trailer.

An open container of beer was found in the vehicle. Arwood had slurred speech and had urinated on herself.

She was transported to Ft. Sanders Loudon ER for a BAC test and for her injuries. After being treated and released she was taken into custody for DUI. Corporal Ernie Brown, LCSO made the arrest.

Police Beat

Ronald Martin White, 46, of Moat Suell Road, Loudon, was charged with assault by domestic violence.

According to the report, Officer Blake Norman, LPD responded to Freedman St. on a domestic call. Upon arrival the officer spoke with the victim who reported she was baby-sitting for her friend when Ronald Martin White came over to her house. The victim reported Mr. white was very irate she was baby-sitting and advised her the baby was coming between them and started demanding answers.

The victim then asked White to leave and he then began cussing her. She said she tried to open the door and White grabbed her and threw her against a chair and started twisting her leg trying to break it.

The victim then got up and grabbed the phone to call 911 when White grabbed the phone and tried to rip the phone out of the wall. White then threw the victim to the floor got on top of her and struck her in the face two times.

White reportedly told the victim if she called 911 he would come back and burn her house down and then White left the residence.

Tennessee Greenways and Trails to Hold Annual Forum April 2-4

Nashville, – The Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation's Greenways and Trails program will hold its annual forum at East Tennessee State University April 2 – 4, 2009, which will be hosted by Johnson City and the Commissioner's Council on Greenways and Trails.

The three-day networking and skill-building conference, titled "Connect with Tennessee," will be held at ETSU's D. P. Culp Center in Johnson City and will feature expert presenters from across the country in addition to a variety of diverse field trips and educational sessions. Educational sessions will include topics such as, improving community health through greenways and trails, the economic impact of greenways and trails on local communities, Off-Highway Vehicle park development, funding and technical resources, historic trails, and long-range planning utilizing the new Greenways and Trails statewide plan.

Dan Burden, founder of Walkable Communities, Inc., will serve as the keynote speaker on April 3. Nationally recognized as the authority on the development and promotion of alternative transportation and sustainable communities, Burden has thirty years' experience as a civic innovator and is recognized for his efforts to create better places to live, work and play.

"This forum is a great opportunity to learn more about the benefits of Tennessee's greenways and trails and the positive impact they have on communities across the state," said Greenways and Trails Program Coordinator Robert Richards. "We are especially excited about Dan Burden's keynote address and honored that he will be sharing his expertise with the group."

Advanced registration received prior to March 6 is $75. Registration received after March 7 is $100. Registration fees include full access to the event, including educational sessions, one of three exciting field trips, a Thursday evening reception at the Tipton Haynes Historic Site, and lunch on Friday and Saturday. For hotel accommodations, conference attendees will receive a special rate of $70 by calling the Carnegie Hotel in Johnson City at (423) 979-6413 before March 3.

More information on the "Connect with Tennessee" forum, including a list of speakers, an official event brochure, event sponsors and registration forms is available at: www.tn.gov/environment/recreation/#gtforum.

The annual forum also kicks off Greenways and Trails statewide "Connect with Tennessee" marketing campaign, designed to promote the use of Tennessee's outstanding greenways and trails. To access the Greenways and Trails Web site and the new statewide plan, please visit: www.tn.gov/environment/recreation/greentrails.shtml.
